Dear Vittal Kamkar,

Thank you for your interest in working in Canada.

After a careful review of your work permit application and supporting documentation, I have determined that your application does not meet the requirements of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act and Regulations. I am refusing your application.

In making a decision on an application, a number of factors are considered. These may include but are not limited to:

- whether a person meets the requirements of his or her prospective employment;
- whether the prospective employment requires a work permit;
- whether the prospective employment requires a labour market impact assessment;
- the individual's travel and identity documents;
- whether the individual is likely to respect the conditions of his or her admission to Canada;
- whether the individual is inadmissible to Canada; and
- whether the applicant would be likely to leave Canada at the end of his/her authorized stay.

To help you understand this decision, the reason(s) are provided on the following pages.

You are welcome to reapply if you feel that you can respond to these concerns and can demonstrate that your situation meets the requirements. All new applications must be accompanied by a new processing fee.

Sincerely,

Consulate General of Canada
