Dear Vittal Kamkar,

Thank you for your interest in working in Canada.

After a careful review of your work permit application and supporting documentation, I have determined that your application does not meet the requirements of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act and Regulations. I am refusing your application.

In making a decision on an application, a number of factors are considered. These may include but are not limited to:

- whether a person meets the requirements of his or her prospective employment;
- whether the prospective employment requires a work permit;
- whether the prospective employment requires a labour market impact assessment;
- the individual's travel and identity documents;
- whether the individual is likely to respect the conditions of his or her admission to Canada;
- whether the individual is inadmissible to Canada; and
- whether the applicant would be likely to leave Canada at the end of his/her authorized stay.

To help you understand this decision, the reason(s) are provided on the following pages.

You are welcome to reapply if you feel that you can respond to these concerns and can demonstrate that your situation meets the requirements. All new applications must be accompanied by a new processing fee.

Sincerely,

Consulate General of Canada

Subsection 11(1) of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act (IRPA) provides that any person wishing to become a temporary resident of Canada must satisfy an officer that he or she is not inadmissible to Canada and that she or he meets the requirements of the Act.

Following an examination of your application, I am not satisfied that you meet the requirements of the Act and the Regulations for the reasons explained below. Please note that only the grounds that are checked off apply to the refusal of your application.

- ☐ You were not able to demonstrate that you adequately meet the job requirements of your prospective employment.
- ☐ You have not demonstrated that you come within the exceptions under section 186 of the regulations exempting you from the requirement to obtain a work permit or that your employment in Canada comes within the exceptions to section 203 of the regulations. As a result, your offer of employment must be the subject of determination labour market impact assessment before a work permit can be issued to you. Your employer in Canada should contact the local office of Service Canada to begin this process.
- ☐ You have not satisfied me that you would leave Canada by the end of the period authorized for your stay. In reaching this decision, I considered several factors, including:
  - ☐ travel history
  - ☐ immigration status in country of residence
  - ☐ family ties in Canada and in country of residence
  - ☐ length of proposed stay in Canada
  - ☐ purpose of visit
  - ☐ employment prospects in country of residence
  - ☐ current employment situation

Dear Akhila Vittal,

Thank you for your interest in visiting Canada. After a careful review of your temporary resident visa application and supporting documentation, I have determined that your application does not meet the requirements of the Immigration and Refugee Protection Act and Regulations. I am refusing your application.

In making a decision on an application, a number of factors are considered. These may include but are not limited to:

- the information in the travel and identity documents;
- the reason for the travel to Canada;
- the person's contacts in Canada;
- the person's ties to his or her country of residence (including immigration status, employment and family ties);
- the person's ability to pay for the trip and to support himself or herself while in Canada;
- whether the person is likely to respect the conditions of his or her admission to Canada;
- whether the person is inadmissible to Canada; and
- whether the person would be likely to leave Canada at the end of his/her authorized stay.

To help you understand my decision, the reason(s) are provided on the following pages.
